WISTERIA IN ORDER OF FLOWERING - APRIL /MAY

valderii hybrid 'Murisaki Kapitan'

Normally the first to open. Mid blue, probably the purest blue (least red in colour)..Flowers mid length set off against pale lemon leaves that open with the flowers. Unfortunately leaves look as if they have a virus later in summer. The flowers also first to fade. See also fl. Eranthema for purest blue.

sinensis 'Amethyst'

Deep violet blue flowers of mid length. Darker and with more red in colour than Prolific. The smaller yellow blotch than on most wisteria giving a deeper overall colour. Flowers before leaves open but fades quickly in sunlight.

brachybotrys 'Okoyama'

Short rounded blooms of violet blue, similar in colour to Amethyst but set off against young bronze foliage. Flowers throughout the spring flowering period, longer than most varieties. Strong distinctive perfume brachybotrys 'Shiro Kapitan' (or Alba)

Short rounded blooms of pure white set off against pale green leaves combined with long flowering period. One of the fastest wisteria to come into flower after planting.

sinensis 'Prolific'

Opens before the leaves with mid length blue /purple flowers. This variety deserves its place as one of the best and most commonly planted wisteria. Mature plants will often have a fair number of flowers again in July/August sinensis 'Jako' or Alba

mid length flowers hang straight down coloured white with small yellow eye. Growth is lighter than other sinensis varieties. prevents the colour from fading during its long flowering period.

floribunda 'Domino' (Issai)

Flowers of mid length and medium blue colour. Pips open to show yellow on a mauve background , free flowering can repeat later in summer.

floribunda 'Kukuryu' or Royal Purple or Black Dragon

Flowers mid to long in length and deep blue in colour. Individual pips do not open very much giving the appearance of deeper colour as the flower ages. A striking feature of this variety is the shiny foliage.

sinensis' Rolvenden Bronze Leaved' Striking bronze leaves come out with the large lilac flowers. Young plants do not come into leaf until the end of June or July but after a year or two behave normally . It can be a mistake to think the plant has died over winter. A new variety with a difference.

brachybotrys 'Showa Beni'

This variety has the best pink colour of any of our varieties. The colour is deeper than floribunda 'Honbeni' (Rosea) although the flowers are shorter and more rounded.

floribunda 'Kimono' A free flowering variety with white flowers containing a striking blue centre.

valderi 'Lavender Lace'

A variety with long flowers and large pips in the racemes giving the flowers a full and bright appearance. The pips have a yellow white centre with darker blue mauve surround valderi 'Eranthema' pale 'Wedgewood Blue' flowers of mid length. This variety rivals valderi Murisaki Kapitan for being the purest blue.

floribunda 'Kuchibeni' ('Peaches and Cream')

Very long racemes with cream and white centres to the flowers surrounded by red purple, giving a distinctive mauve white appearance fading almost white. Very free flowering. Will flower quite freely late summer

X formosa 'Caroline'

This variety has short compact flowers of mid blue colour

floribunda 'Honbeni' ('Rosea')

Very long flowers of pale magenta pink colour. Similar in appearance to 'Kuchibeni' but with more pink in the colour.

valderii 'Hocker Edge'

Flowers long in length and hang straight down. Similar to 'Lavender Lace' but open petals are darker.

floribunda 'Lawrence'

Pale blue purple with large pips and long trusses

floribunda ‘Loders Purple’

Deep red purple flowers with mid length trusses. The individual pips are on the small side.

floribunda ‘Kyshaku’ or Macrobotrys or Multijuga

Pale mauve variety with the longest flowers. Flowers often over 1m in length that hang in a dainty and attractive manor.

floribunda ‘Yae Kokuryu’ (‘Black Dragon’ or ‘Violacea Plena)

Double flowers. The long blooms are dark purple in bud opening lavender blue. There is a lot leaf out by the time the flowers open if grown in a shady position.

formosa mid blue and mid length flowers. Green foliage tends to appear with the flowers. Formosa is often listed as the same plant as Issai but our plant flower a lot later and produces more seed pods. It flowers very freely and look similar to Issai
A good variety if you prefer a later flowering plant.

floribunda ‘Shiro Noda’ (‘Alba’ or ‘Multijuga Alba’)

The last of our wisteria to flower. The very long flowers are white and start opening before the leaves. A variety to be recommended.
